The Erie Canal is a canal in New York that originally ran about 363 miles. Today the Erie Canal is across state East West in the New York State canal system formerly known as the New York State barge canal.

The Erie Canal was the first transportation Late System. We want To go to the Erie Canal cause we can swim in it

Northeast mountains

Mount Washington has some of the world most severe weather it can snow here all year long the peak is also one of the windiest places on earth. The wind speed can get up to 75 mph faster than a car. Mount Washington sits in the White Mountains of New Hampshire the white mountains are part of the appellation mountain range. We would like to go there because we can hike up the side of the mountain

Washington DC

Washington is our nations capital it is home of our government.

Our government laws help to make sure that each per person's rights are protected our rights include happiness. The government also works for the common good this means the government tries to act in ways that serve all people not just a few I want To go there so I can meet the government

National monuments

We have many monuments including the Washington monument and Jefferson memorial. You can see many monuments if you go to Washington DC there are many special monuments.

North east coast

The West Coby head lighthouse was built in 1808 it's light in foghorn continue to keep ships from crashing into maines rocky shore. The Northeast coastline is dotted with harbors or boats and ships can dock safely. As glaciers slowly moved across the land they carved the groups into the coastline later the ice melted Tennessee flowed into these low places that's why you see so many harbors.

We want to go to the coastline to ride on a boat

Democracy takes root at Plymouth. In 1620 the Mayflower left England 102 passengers on board. All of the passengers were headed for Virginia. Less than half of the passengers were pilgrims in search of religious freedom.

Storm Mayflower off course instead of Virginia the ship reached New England sick of stormy seas the Pilgrims decided to stop there but they had a problem there is no government in New England. I would like to go to my mouth so that I can walk aboard a model of the Mayflower
